Treatment Presentation

Presented by T Management

Treatment presentation is truly an art form and a critical component of modern dentistry. There is no better expert in presenting treatment than Dr. Steven Wingfield. He is a recognized authority on presenting treatment options and has helped countless dentists improve their communication skills and patient outcomes. In his presentation, Dr. Wingfield will share practical tips and strategies for presenting treatment options to patients in a clear, concise, and understandable way. He will discuss the importance of effective communication, building rapport with patients, and understanding their unique needs and concerns.

Dr. Wingfield's presentation is based on his extensive experience as a clinician and educator. He has trained a multitude of dentists on how to improve their presentation skills, and his methods have been proven to increase case acceptance rates and improve patient satisfaction.

Some of the course objectives will be:

- Using Dental Intel to enhance patient experience.
- Discussing the anatomy of the perfect patient visit.
- Learning the value of Wellness Scans.
- Discussing how taking a more comprehensive approach to treatment planning is the key to success.
- Revisiting Cosmetic Plans and the proper way to approach them.

This course will feature break-out sessions and small group training to improve your overall efficiency in treatment planning and presentation.

Sleep Apnea?

Obstructive sleep apnea (OSA) is the term for when the airway collapses, either partially or fully, while someone is asleep. This limits or blocks the ability for air to flow into the lungs. As the person continues to try and breathe, the airway constricts, no matter how hard they try to keep breathing. Once this happens, the person will change the position of their tongue and jaw so that the airway is now open. This usually is followed by the person gasping or snorting. Finally, the person affected will begin this process again.

The effects of this are harmful. It not only makes it harder to breathe, which can be dangerous, but it also leads to less restful sleep. When the airways constrict, the brain “awakens” the person so that they are sleeping more lightly. Spurts of gasping and snorting can repeat hundreds of times throughout the night, disrupting sleep all around.

Dr. Kevin Mangelson, D.M.D.

Dr. Kevin Mangelson is a graduate of Boise State University and Tufts University School of Dental Medicine. Dr Mangelson has been working with TMJ disorders and dental sleep medicine patients since 2008. During that time he spent three and a half years in active duty service for the United States Army as a general dentist. CPT Mangelson spent much of his time treating members of our Armed Forces for TMJ disorders and Sleep Apnea. CPT Mangelson is decorated with the Army Achievement Medical and twice with the Army Commendation Medal for exemplary service to the United States Army. Dr. Mangelson has had the privilege of being personally mentored by world renowned experts in craniofacial pain, pain management, and sleep disorders. His passion for TMJ disorders and dental sleep medicine has motivated him to seek out extensive CE to further his expertise. Dr. Mangelson is married to his wife TawnaLyn and together they have four enthusiastic children.

- T Management’s Continuing Education Program was revitalized and prompted back into form in late 2021 following the Covid-19 pandemic. While the program has been around for over thirteen years this new version has aimed to serve all our providers and staff to allow them to keep their skills sharp, introduce them to new content and provide them with a sense of community within our organization.
- For the first time in program history as of April 1st 2023, T Management will be a Pace Approved Continuing Education Program allowing us to expand the depth our of course content and truly enhance the overall quality of our program.
- The overall goal of the program hasn’t changed a lot over the years but recently it has taken on a more encompassing measure of ensuring our providers are truly some of the best in the Atlanta area. Below are some of the overall goals the program aims to achieve to ensure this is possible:
 - Provide (1) In-Person Education Event every fiscal quarter for up to 3 CE Credits
 - Provide (8) In-Person Education Event(s) every 2 years, totaling up to 24 CE Credits
 - Partner with only top industry standard and accredited vendors
 - Ensure all AGD Pace Guidelines are upheld
 - Provide a sense of community for all our providers through In-Person Events
- While the program is still young in nature it has already proven to be a success and we are looking to build on a strong 2022 and make 2023 our most educational year yet!
